ANS MODERN CURATOR APPOINTED

John M. Kleeberg has been selected as the Society's Assistant Curator of Modern Coins and Currency, effective February 13, 1990. The appointment was announced by ANS Chief Curator William E. Metcalf following the meeting of the Society's Council on January 20. The position, previously held by William L. Bischoff, had been vacant since last May.

Kleeberg received his B.A. from Yale University in 1979 in history and classics. He then spent almost nine years in England with annual visits to West Germany and other parts of the continent including East Germany. Having consulted more than 20 European archival holdings such as the Bundesarchiv Koblenz and the Zentrales Staasarchiv in Potsdam and Merseburg, he also did research in the most important business archives (such as Krupp, Mannesmann, Sal. Oppenheim Jr. and Cie) and mining archives (i.e. Bochum and Clausthal). In addition, he examined collections of important papers held in the U.S. at major institutions such as Harvard and Brandeis. In 1988 he received a D.Phil. in modern history from St. Catherine's College, Oxford University, on "The Disconto-Gesellschaft and German Industralization: A Critical Examination of the Career of a German Universal Bank, 1851–1914."

Kleeberg inherited a love of old books from his grandfather and has a modest collection of eighteenth century tomes. Recently he has refocused his collection on volumes dealing with economic history and banking. He was shy when asked about naming a prized possession, but was quite content to mention an Elzevir edition of Velleius Paterculus dated 1649.

Coin Rooms Closed for Renovation

The long-awaited renovation program at the ANS, made possible by the success of the Society's Development Campaign, is now under way. Areas of the building directly affected include all the coin rooms and the East Exhibition Hall.

The coin rooms will remain inaccessible to visitors at least until the middle of May according to the contractor's schedule. This temporary inconvenience will be more than offset by the new facilities which promise much improved conditions for both the staff and visitors working directly with the collections.

New Multipurpose Area

Redesign of the East Hall will provide an area adaptable to a variety of purposes. The principal use will continue to be the display of short-term exhibits on topical themes. In addition, the gallery will be equipped as an auditorium for small conferences. Newly installed security provisions and the proximity of the area to coin rooms will also permit "hands-on" workshops involving objects from the collections. This will prove particularly valuable during the period of the Society's Graduate Seminar in Numismatics where it is frequently necessary for the students to exhibit specific coins during group discussions.

Meetings Scheduled

Two public meetings are scheduled to take place at the ANS during the renovation period. On March 24, the Society will honor Keiichi Uryu as its Saltus Medalist. The day will also include an illustrated address by Julia Meech and the opening of a special exhibit on the Japanese medal.

BENNINGTON STUDENTS AT ANS

As in past years, the ANS participated in the Field Work program of Bennington College. All Bennington students spend the months of January and February in a work situation which is intended to give them practical knowledge of the working world and help them integrate the theory and practice of their studies. This year four students spent their Field Work term at the Society, helping with the computerized inventory of the collection in specific areas of coinage.

Emre Azizlerli, a sophomore from Istanbul, worked with Michael L. Bates on our collection of Ottoman and later Turkish coins, medals, and decorations. His native Turkish was, of course, of great assistance in working with the literature on these pieces. He then moved on to the Latin American collection.

Duncan Dunscombe, a freshman from Freeport, ME, was supervised by Alan M. Stahl as he worked with the Society's strong collection of Crusader coinage. Dunscombe inventoried the historical collection according to the new attributions in D.M. Metcalf's catalogue of the Oxford collection and integrated into the trays the several hundred Crusader coins donated in 1987 by Paul Z. Bedoukian, which include many issues previously not represented in our collection, especially the mint of Tripolis.

Also working with Stahl was Jackie Kinner, a senior from Oaklyn, NJ, who is majoring in French and medieval literature. She inventoried the collection of French seigneurial coinage, an area for which the literature is sparse and outdated. She also integrated French issues from the Bedoukian gift, which appear to be from Crusader contexts, into the collection.

Andrew Kolovos, a freshman from Mill Neck, NY, worked under Carmen Arnold-Biucchi in the Greek department inventorying the collection of Phoenician coins from before the time of Alexander III through the Roman period. These coins are of particular interest in that many of them bear a year of issue.

Valuable Experience

The students summed up their experience by saying "In the end, we feel that the work we did for the ANS is valuable to numismatists, collectors, and those who for their own work draw on the resources of the collection. The simple act of cataloguing and categorizing is necessary for any science."

Bennington College students at the ANS: Jackie Kinner, Duncan Dunscombe, Emre Azizlerli, and Andrew Kolovos.

CÜNEYT ÖLÇER, TURKISH NUMISMATIST, 65

Cüneyt Ölçer, the renowned Turkish numismatist, died February 2 of cancer at his home in Istanbul. He was born and raised in Ankara and then went to the Istanbul Teknik University where he received a degree in civil engineering. His first professional job was in Bursa; later he returned to Istanbul where, in 1968, he became director of the Estate and Building Planning Department for the Türkiye İş Bankaşi. Traveling extensively for the department, he became more and more interested in Turkish numismatics and took early retirement so he could visit the great collections of Turkish coins held in other countries.

When Ölçer's first book was published about the silver coins of the last six Ottoman sultans, it created an immediate interest in collecting Turkish coins. In all he published 14 books and over 40 articles on various aspects of Turkish numismatics. His original work was expanded to a four volume set appearing between 1978 and 1989; other works treated the coinage of the Aydinoğlu and Karamanids, Mahmud II, and included a catalogue of the coins in the Turkish State Museum.

ANS Associate Member

An ANS member since 1972, Ölçer became president of the Turkish Numismatic Society in 1976 and launched a bulletiin in which members published articles on Islamic coins and paper money. In 1980 he was appointed General Director of Museums and Antiquities by the prime minister, holding that position until the change of government. When the twenty-seventh issue of the numismatic club's bulletin appeared last December, it contained yet another article by him.

Cüneyt Ölçer's work and dedication to his specialized field of numismatics has earned him the respect and admiration of fellow numismatists everywhere.

ANS Schedules Waggoner Memorial Colloquium

On May 19 the Society will sponsor a colloquium in memory of Nancy M. Waggoner, who died April 10, 1989, shortly after her retirement as ANS Curator of Greek Coins. She had been a member of the Society's staff since 1968.

The international gathering at the ANS will comprise six presentations by friends and students of Mrs. Waggoner, beginning at 10:30 A.M. Morning presentations will include: "Observations on the Royal Macedonian Light Tetrobols of the Fifth Century B.C.," by Charles A. Hersh (Mineola, NY) and "Coins and Slaves in the Athenian Law of 375/4 B.C.," by Thomas R. Martin (Pomona College, Pomona, CA).

Following lunch, the conference will resume with "Some Observations on Alexander's Early Macedonian Coinage," by Hyla A. Troxell (Montclair, NJ); "Coins in Circulation in Babylon in 323 B.C.," by Martin J. Price (British Museum, London); "The Antioch Project," by Arthur Houghton (Washington, DC); and "Arabian Alexanders," by Carmen Arnold-Biucchi, Margaret Thompson Curator of Greek Coins at the ANS.

William E. Metcalf, Chief Curator of the Society, will introduce and chair the sessions. Honorary Chairman for the event is John D. Leggett, Jr., of the Society's Council.

ANS Annual Giving Passes Half Way Mark

Since December when the 1990 Annual Giving appeal went out to the membership, over $53,000 has been raised toward our $100,000 goal. The co-chairmen of the Annual Drive, R. Henry Norweb and Allen F. Lovejoy, are enthusiastic about the excellent response and generosity of ANS members and supporters.

They report contributions to date from over 120 individuals. The average gift is $440, with over half the donors giving at least $100. Encouraged by the initial response to this membership-wide appeal, and cognizant of the need to meet the 1990 goal by September 30, Co-chairmen Norweb and Lovejoy have recently sent a reminder to those who have not yet made their gift. They expect the challenge to the membership to inspire sufficient contributions to take us beyond the target $100,000.

Member Support Important

Annual Giving funds are essential to help cover the Society's operating expenses and offset the budget deficit. These funds support maintenance of our landmark museum building, improved security of the collections, and our expanded public program schedule.

This year's Annual Giving effort is the first to use premiums as an incentive to giving. The Society is happy in this way to provide coin-related gifts to donors at the various giving levels.

Readers should take note that the second appeal letter has been sent only to ANS members in the United States, in order to save postage expense; however, all members are asked to be generous in support of this effort. Indeed many Corresponding Members, whose membership is honorary, have already contributed to the 1990 Drive.

A response form is included with this ANSNewsletter for convenience. Please send a gift or a pledge today to join your fellow ANS members in this important effort.

Donor Recognition Gifts

The following distinctive gifts are being offered during the 1990 campaign (qualifying donations are indicated on the response form):

Platinum Donors, Diplomat Attaché Case. Rich maroon leatherette over wood construction, the attaché case measures 14 x 19 x 4 inches with two sections (one with assorted coin trays, the other for your personal coin boxes or accessories). This handsome case has two combination locks and provides a compact, attractive way to carry your collection.

Gold Donors, Halogen Grading Lamp. A portable 17-inch multi-use lamp with two interchangeable bases (weighted and clip-on) using a 20 watt halogen bulb.

Silver Donors, Bantam Centurion Coin Case. Light-weight black leatherette over wood carrying case, measuring 10 x 8 x 3 inches, with red flocked trays in assorted coin sizes.

Bronze Donors, Panasonic Light Scope. A 30x magnifier with light for detailed coin viewing, 5 inches long.

Aluminum Donors, ANS Notecards. An assortment of 20 numismatic cards with envelopes featuring color photographs of coins in the ANS collection.

Donors may select a gift from a lower category.

MEMBERSHIP UPDATE

ANS membership has grown to 2,450 thanks to strong recruitment over the past year. We would like it to expand by an additional 25% in order to increase our base of support. The Society can easily serve many more members and provide a much wider audience with its superb numismatic resources and publications. Membership in the ANS is open to all with a serious interest in numismatics.

Our best recruitment method is personal sponsorship. Last year our members did a great job of encouraging friends and colleagues to join the ANS. The Society must continue to depend on its members to inform others of the benefits of belonging to the Society.

Members who are still holding our ANS Membership brochures should take this opportunity to send them to prospective new members. Additional brochures are available from the ANS Development Officer, Roxanne Greenstein.

WHEN IN PARIS

The Parisian Museum of Coins and Medals, which opened in late 1988, has issued a colorful leaflet in English to encourage visitors from the United States. The museum, at the Quai de Conti, has on exhibit almost 2,500 objects, covering the entire span of coinage and medals with a concentration, as expected, of the numismatic history of France. The galleries also feature coin-making tools and machinery, documents, and various works of art depicting numismatic topics. Audiovisual presentations add to the understanding of the objects on exhibition.

I wish to contribute to the American Numismatic Society's 1989/90 Annual Giving. Please include me as a donor in the group below, eligible for the appropriate gift.

☐ Platinum, $5,000 [attaché case]
☐ Gold, $1,000 [grading lamp]
☐ Silver, $500 [coin case]
☐ Bronze, $250 [light scope]
☐ Aluminum, $125 [note cards]
☐ Other, $ _____

Please print name and address above.

☐ My check is enclosed. ☐ I prefer to pay with my Visa/Mastercard:

☐ Visa or ☐ Mastercard: no. _____ Exp. date: _____

Daytime phone: _____ Signature: _____

☐ Please accept my contribution but do not send a donor recognition gift.

Contributions to the ANS are tax deductible as provided by law.
Thank you very much for your support of the Society and its programs.

HUNTINGTON MEDAL TO BRUUN

The Archer M. Huntington Medal Award for 1989 will be presented to Patrick Bruun, Emeritus Professor of History at the Abo Akademi, Turku, Finland, on April 21 at the Society.

Bruun is the author of Studies in Constantinian Chronology which appeared as ANSNNM 146 in 1961. He is best known for his edition of Roman Imperial Coinage, volume 7 (Constantine I and Family), published in 1966, and has written extensively on later Roman coinage. His work has extended to virtually all phases of Constantinian numismatics, including mint organization, portraiture, and hoarding behavior. He is also a specialist on early Roman history.

Bruun is no stranger to the ANS. In 1960 he served as Visiting Scholar at the Society's Graduate Seminar and in 1978 delivered the Stack Memorial Lecture on "Confusing Likenesses of the Tetrarchic Emperors."

Bruun to Speak

This will be the first presentation of the Huntington Medal, given for distinguished contributions to numismatic scholarship, in a new program format. Beginning this year, the award will be followed by a lecture delivered by the recipient. Bruun will discuss "The Civil War of A.D. 316." A reception will follow at the museum; interested individuals are also invited to subscribe for a dinner to be held that evening affording the opportunity to meet with the honored guest in an informal setting.

Library Notes

Among those who have visited the Library recently are Rafael J. Feria y Pérez, Director of the Museo de la Casa de la Moneda, Madrid, who was interested in studying the Library's arrangement. During his visit, Mr. Feria y Pérez presented two fine volumes to the collection. These were Carlos III y La Casa de La Moneda and El grabado a buril en La España ilustrada: Manuel Salvador Carmona. Harald Salvesen of Drobak, Norway, utilized the Library's holdings on Greek coinage, and Prof. James E. Packer of the Department of Classics, Northwestern University, made extensive use of the auction catalogue holdings in verifying references for an upcoming work on Roman coins.

The publisher Pierre Zech of Paris has presented the Library with a volume entitled Hommes et richesses dans l'empire byzantine IV-VII siecle in the series "Réalités Byzantines." In it, some 20 authors offer a fresh view of some of the demographic, commercial, and numismatic aspects of the late Roman and early Byzantine period. Cabinet Numismatique Albuquerque, which routinely sends the Library copies of its auction sales has recently sent two new publications which it offers for sale. These are Encyclopédie pratique de numismatique et de finances royales, 1610–1792, Vol. 1, by Frederic Droulers and Recueil des monnaies de la revolution, 1789–1804, by Alain Brandon. From Yugoslavia, the Library has received a festschrift dedicated to the numismatist Alexander Jelocnik. Edited by Peter Kos and Zeljko Demo, the vulume is entitled, Studia Numismatica Labacensia. In a richly illustrated volume published by Münz Zentrum of Cologne, Gunther Felke offers a detailed catalogue of the gold coinage of the Electors of the Rhein District. Entitled Die Goldprägungen der rheinischen Kurfursten 1346–1478, some 1,513 coins are described. Other publications received include Collecting Roman Coins, by Michael J. Kiely and David Van Meter and Hong Kong Coin & Paper Money Catalogue, by Steven Tan.

In recent months the Library has initiated several exchange agreements. As a result of these, the Library will receive copies of the journals Cahiers Numismatiques, published by the Société D'Études Numismatiques et Archéologiques, Der Geldscheinsammler, published by Heinrich Gietl Verlag, Anas, of the Museo Nacional de Arte Romano in Merida, Memorie dell'Accademia Italiana di Studi Filatelici e Numismatici, and Yarmouk Numismatics, published by Yarmouk University, Department of History, Irbid, Jordan.

The exhibit will be installed in the Council Room on the main floor until the end of April.

The Society's Huntington Award recipient, Patrick Bruun, will be recognized and will address the Society on April 21. Each of these events will take place on a Saturday and will afford members and the public the opportunity to check on the progress of the reconstruction work while continuing to participate in the life of the Society. We anticipate that all work will be completed by the time of the full day conference here on May 19 in memory of Nancy M. Waggoner whose untimely death in April 1989 occurred shortly after she retired as ANS Curator of Greek Coins.

ASSOCIATES ELECTED

Applications for membership in the ANS continued at a brisk pace with 60 individuals and 2 institutions elected by the Council at its January 20, 1990, meeting. New Associates of the Society include: Gregory L. Adams, San Diego, CA; Gary Allen, St. Lucia, Australia; George B. Baker, Flushing, NY; Dewey M. Beegle, Washington, DC; Kenneth Bernard, San Diego, CA; Richard Bleiberg, New York, NY; Donald F. Burns, Berkeley Heights, NJ; Sylvie de Turckheim-Pey, Paris, France; Anne Demeester, Brussels, Belgium; and Steve Dill, Lancaster, CA.

Also, N. Fleming Elsberry, Hamden, CT; Joseph C. Foster, Midlothian, VA; Richard M. Gleeson, Crom Lynne, PA; A. Owen Guy, Germantown, IN; Ted C. Hays, College Park, GA; Berry P. Jones, Orwigsburg, PA; Klaus Kern, Zwingenberg, West Germany; Richard D. Kimble, Columbus, OH; Harry Kornblau, Albany, NY; and Lisa A. Legler, Plainfield, IL.

Also, Neil Letson, New York, NY; James Linek, Teaneck, NJ; Arthur D. Louis, Wyckoff, NJ; Malcolm McNeil, Foster City, CA; David Michaels, Fresno, CA; Steven A. LOWICK'S ABBASID CORPUS

In the last ANSNewsletter an announcement by Sotheby's was published. We have recently heard from them that the sale of coins that they planned to sponsor this spring to raise funds for the publication of Nicholas Lowick's work on Abbasid coinage has been postponed to their October 1990 auction.

According to Tom Eden, deputy director of the Department of Coins and Medals, a number of valuable pieces have already been received and they "hope to add to these to ensure strong support for the publication of the corpus." Coins for this auction will be accepted by Sotheby's through the end of June.

CHARLES M. WORMSER, 78

Charles M. Wormser, a member of the ANS for 57 years until his resignation in 1989, died February 10, 1990, at age 78. Wormser, a Society Fellow since 1941, was a well known New York coin dealer and a loyal supporter of the ANS. He retired as President of the New Netherlands Coin Company in 1978 and shortly thereafter moved to Hamden, Connecticut.

Wormser Lecture Sponsor

Wormser provided the funds for the annual Moritz Wormser Memorial Lecture at the ANS. These public lectures, sponsored each fall in memory of his father, spanned 12 years between 1966 and 1977 and enabled the Society to invite many of the leading scholars in the discipline to address the Saturday audience.

THE EXCHEQUER

The International Society of Jeton Collectors has published the first volume of its journal, The Exchequer. In it are articles by Dr. Ted Banning, the editor, "Collecting Jetons and Counters"; Stan Clute, "A Jeton of the Officers de Guet"; and Dr. Mayer Hyman, "Guy Patin and the Jetons of the Faculty of Medicine of Paris."

The acting secretary-treasurer of the ISJC is Gordon Andreas Singer, P.O. Box 235, Greenbelt, MD 20770, U.S.A.; membership is U.S. $10 payable to Singer. For further information call either Singer at (301) 577-0864 or Banning at (416) 769-0605.

Brooks Emmons Levy with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey G. Stack. Dr. Levy presented the 1990 Stack Memorial Lecture at the Society on January 20, discussing the symbols of kingship on Roman coins.

1989 COAC SLIDE SET AVAILABLE

America's Federal Gold Coinage, 1795–1933, by John W. McCloskey, is now available from the Society. This annotated slide set was produced especially for the 1989 Coinage of the Americas Conference held at the ANS in November on the topic, "America's Gold Coinage."

The boxed set, with a full color cover, includes 36 color slides and an accompanying 40 page illustrated booklet. Mr. McCloskey provides summary descriptions of the major coin types issued in each gold denomination during the period and points out significant identifying characteristics which distinguish the principal type varieties. The publication is intended both as an aid to the collector and as a text for viewing the color slides.

This slide set is offered at $30 plus $1.00 postage and handling. ANS members enjoy a 10% discount on all publication purchases. Those who ordered this slide set at the time of the Conference will receive it by mail.

Past Sets Available

A total of seven slide sets have been produced for the six COAC meetings held to date. All are still available. The Society will send, on request, the current Publications in Print which lists, in addition to ANS books, information on all COAC slide sets as well as other teaching aids, color cards, and ANS medals.

ANS PUBLICATIONS: CAUTIOUS OPTIMISM

ANS members holding the 1989 and the 1990 Publication Subscriptions will see the fruits of their patience in the coming months. The two publications scheduled for distribution under the 1989 subscription are nearing completion. The first of these is Carmen Arnold-Biucchi's The Randazzo Hoard 1980 and Sicilian Chronology in the Early Fifth Century B.C., ANSNS 18. The other, in the NNM series, is Ann Johnston's continuation of her work on Metapontum. She had edited and emended the two volumes of Sydney P. Noe's The Coinage of Metapontum, which the ANS issued as a single volume in 1984. She has since gone on to create a separate work continuing the study of this series with The Coinage of Metapontum, part 3, ANSNNM 164.

For holders of the 1990 Publication Subscription, two books are in preparation. One of these is A Hoard from Eastern Parthia, ANSNNM 165, by Heidimarie Koch. This study analyzes a hoard of 266 bronzes, 247 of which are from northeastern Parthian mints dating from ca. 38 B.C. to the last half of the second century A.D.; the remaining coins are from a southwestern mint. The other volume to be released at the end of 1990 is Margaret Thompson's continuing study of the coinage of Alexander. Alexander's Drachm Mints 2: Lampsacus and Abydus complements the author's 1983 study of Sardes and Miletus.

FELLOWSHIPS AVAILABLE

The Council for International Exchange of Scholars has announced the availability of Fulbright Awards and India Research Fellowships. The Fulbright Awards for 1991/2 range from three months to a full academic year with openings in over 100 countries. The awards are made in virtually all disciplines, and scholars at all academic ranks are eligible as well as retired faculty and independent scholars. Grant benefits vary according to the destination country but generally include round-trip travel for the grantee and one dependent; a living allowance; a tuition allowance for school-age children; and book and baggage allowances. Application materials are available now and can be obtained from the Council for International Exchange of Scholars, 3400 International Drive, Suite M-500, Washington, D.C. 20008-3097, (202) 686-7866. Application deadlines for this program differ by country.

Also through the CIES, the Indo-U.S. Subcommission on Education and Culture is offering long-term and short-term awards for research in India, available in all academic disciplines except medicine. The application deadline for these awards is June 15, 1990, and they are available from the Council by inserting "Attn: Indo-American Fellowship Program" in the address. The phone number for this office is (202) 686-4913.
